An overview of who makes up this segment across the United States

Who We Are

Family and faith are the cornerstones of life in these communities. Older children, still living at home, working toward financial independence, are common within these households. Neighborhoods are stable: little household growth has occurred for more than a decade. Many residents work in the health-care industry or public administration across all levels of government. Style is important to these consumers, who spend on clothing for themselves and their children as well as on smartphones.

Our Neighborhood

- Family Foundations residents are a mix of married couples, single parents, grandparents, and children, young and adult. Average household size is slightly higher at 2.71. Neighborhoods are found in principal cities of major metropolitan areas throughout the South and West. More than two-thirds are homeowners living in single family houses built before 1970. Nearly three-fourths of all households have one or two vehicles at their disposal; average commute time is slightly higher.

Socioeconomic Traits

- More than half have either attended college or obtained a degree; one-third have only finished high school. Labor force participation rate is slightly lower at 58% as workers begin to retire. Over one-third of households currently receive Social Security benefits; just under a quarter draw income from retirement accounts. A strong focus is on religion and character. Style and appearance are important.

Market Profile

- Baby and children's products are the primary purchases made by Family Foundations residents. Shop at discount stores, such as Marshalls, Kmart, dollar stores, and take advantage of savings at Sam's Club. Many have no financial investments or retirement savings. Magazines, particularly focusing on health and children, are popular. Enjoy listening to urban format radio. Favorite entertainment sources include television: subscribe to premium cable channels and own 3–4 TVs. Connected, using the Internet primarily for entertainment, chat rooms, and online gaming.

The demographic segmentation shown here can help you understand the lifestyles and life stages of consumers in a market.
